Nyingchi Bayi - Basung Tso - Lhasa (B/-)

Today, we will travel to Lhasa, and the altitude will gradually rise. After breakfast, go to the most beautiful red holy lake in eastern Tibet [Basung Tso], which is like a crescent moon embedded in the mountains and valleys, the lake is crystal clear, the blue waves are magnificent, and the lake water is transparent and you can see the swimming fish like weaving, full of fun. There is a red Nyingma temple on the island in the center of the lake that is more than 1,500 years old, surrounded by a dense and secluded forest surrounded by a jade-like lake, and an ancient temple in the center of the lake brings Basung Tso into the reverie of history, and the background of the forest is two snow-capped mountains at an altitude of 5,500 meters, forming an extremely stunning beauty.

DAY
06

Lhasa: Potala Palace, Jokhang Temple, Barkhor Street (B/-)

In the morning, explore the world's highest ancient palace, [Potala Palace], a fortress-like complex where Dalai Lamas resided, holding political and religious authority in Tibet. Climbing 1080 steps might tire you, but the view over Lhasa is breathtaking, making fatigue fade.

Afternoon, discover the sacred [Jokhang Temple], cherished by Tibetan Buddhists. As the famous lama Nyima Tsering said, visiting Lhasa without the Jokhang is incomplete, a sentiment most travelers share. This temple showcases a blend of Tibetan, Tang, Nepalese, and Indian architecture, standing as a timeless example of Tibetan religious design.

Post-temple, stroll around, immersing yourself in Tibetan vibes. Roam the [Bajiao Street] market, bask in the city's sunlit streets, or find tranquility in a sweet tea house, connecting with local traditions.

Note: Potala Palace tickets are pre-purchased with time limits. Our itinerary adapts accordingly. Security checks apply at the palace entrance, and no photography is allowed inside.

07

Lhasa - Yangdroyongcuo - Karora Glacier - Gyantse - Shigatse (B/-)

After breakfast, we will set off from Lhasa and cross the [Gombala Snow Mountain] at an altitude of 4,900 meters to the world's highest freshwater lake [Yangzhuo Yongcuo]. Known as the most beautiful water in the world, the blue lake is connected with the snow-capped mountains in the distance, which makes people feel refreshed. The car detoured Yangzhuo Yongcuo, passing the [Karora Glacier], which was once the location of the movie "Red River Valley", and the glacier on the side of the road is breathtaking. All the way to the anti-British hero town [Gyantse], an ancient city with a history of more than 600 years, and also a transportation fortress from Former Tibet to Hou Tibet. Overlooking the [Zongshan Anti-British Site] from far and visit the only 100,000 stupa [Baiju Temple] that integrates the three major sects of Tibet and is famous for its exquisite murals and carvings. Then drive to Shigatse, the second largest city in Tibet, and stay overnight in Shigatse.

Shigatse - Gaula Mountain - Rongbuk - Everest Base Camp (B/-)

Drive to the base camp of Mount Everest in the morning, pass [Latse], [Dingri] of Xieger, and when you arrive at [Xieger], you can overlook the majesty of Mount Everest, and then arrive at the world's highest temple [Rongbuk Temple], which is the best angle to look up to Mount Everest. Continue to [Everest Base Camp] and gaze at Mount Everest, the world's highest peak at 8,848 meters above sea level. At night, stay in the tent area of Everest Base Camp, when the night covers the earth, you are awake, you do not seem to step out of the tent, enjoy the clear moonlight and brilliant starry sky. ♦ Intimate reminder: Mount Everest is 5200 meters above sea level, headaches often occur at night and it is difficult to sleep, this is normal, do not panic excessively, continue to slow down your steps, relax your mood, feel the beauty of Mount Everest, symptoms will slowly ease.

Everest Base Camp - Gyatso La Pass Observation Deck - Shigatse (B/-)

The night before, whether you had a good night's sleep or tossed and turned, you must get up early to welcome the dawn of Mount Everest, when the peaks are still sleeping in the dawn, and Mount Everest has been draped in the gorgeous morning glow like a goddess costume. With the first rays of light rising from Mount Everest, it travels through the majestic, majestic, winding Himalayan mountains, and climbs over the Gaula Mountains at an altitude of 5,200 meters in desolation and silence. In the distance, in addition to Mount Everest (8848 above sea level), there are still snow-capped world-class peaks such as Labujikang Peak (altitude 7367), Cho Aoyou Peak (altitude 8201), Lhotse Peak (8516 altitude), Makalu (altitude 8463), and the majestic Shishabangma Peak (8012 altitude), the world's top mountain with an altitude of more than 8,000 meters in China.
